CLINICAL FOCUS

Gözde Genç İşleyen's clinical work is centered on age-appropriate developmental, behavioral, and emotional concerns. She works with adolescents and their families on growth-related concerns, which may include changes in mood, behavior, or social functioning that arise during this stage of development.

Another area of her practice is the psychological assessment and support of eating disorders, which are approached in a cautious and individualized way and, where appropriate, in coordination with other members of the Psychiatry & Psychology team.
