CLINICAL FOCUS

As an anesthesiologist, Dr. Çakıcı is involved in the perioperative support of patients, which covers the period before, during and after a procedure that requires anesthesia. This includes the preoperative assessment of a patient's medical history and current condition, the planning and management of anesthesia during the procedure, and monitoring in the immediate recovery phase.

Her areas of expertise also include palliative care and advanced life support. Palliative care focuses on the relief of symptoms and the support of patients living with serious illness, in coordination with the other physicians involved in their treatment. Advanced life support refers to the structured management of patients in critical or life-threatening situations within the hospital setting.
