CLINICAL FOCUS

A central part of Dr. Yeşilyurt's work is inpatient ward care. For patients who have been admitted to the hospital, this means coordinated inpatient medical support during the stay, together with communication regarding the care plan. Patients and, where appropriate, their relatives can expect information about the steps planned during the admission and about how their care is being organized on the ward.

Dr. Yeşilyurt also provides consultations related to botulinum toxin applications and dermal filler applications. In such a consultation, the patient's request and medical history are discussed, and whether an application is suitable in the individual case is assessed before any decision is made. Possible options, the expected steps and relevant considerations are explained so that the patient can make an informed decision.
