CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Metinyurt's areas of expertise are clinical laboratory medicine, medical biochemistry and diagnostic test assessment. A clinical laboratory specialist typically works alongside the treating physicians rather than in a front-line clinical role: laboratory samples ordered as part of a patient's care are processed and evaluated in the laboratory, and the resulting values are assessed for consistency, plausibility and...

In practice, this means that Dr. Metinyurt's contribution to an international patient's pathway is usually indirect. Laboratory results form part of the overall picture that the treating team reviews together with the patient's history, examination findings and imaging.
