CLINICAL FOCUS

Internal Medicine covers the diagnosis and non-surgical management of medical conditions in adults. Dr. Dönmez's clinical interests include chronic diseases, which often call for regular follow-up, adjustment of medication, and coordination between different aspects of a patient's care.

Edema, or fluid retention that causes swelling, is another area of her practice. Because swelling can result from several different medical conditions, assessment typically involves looking for the underlying cause rather than addressing the symptom alone.
