CLINICAL FOCUS

A central part of Dr. Hasdemir's work is the evaluation and treatment of arrhythmias, including atrial fibrillation. Depending on the type of rhythm disorder and the patient's overall condition, treatment may involve medication, catheter ablation or pacemaker therapy.

His coronary practice includes coronary artery disease, atherosclerosis, angina and heart attack. Where indicated, he performs angiography and percutaneous coronary intervention, and the decision to proceed with an interventional procedure is made after reviewing the patient's history, symptoms and diagnostic findings.
