CLINICAL FOCUS

A substantial part of Dr. Akgöz's practice concerns heart failure and ischemic heart disease. He evaluates patients with suspected or established coronary artery disease and performs coronary angiography to assess the coronary arteries. Where the findings indicate it, he carries out percutaneous coronary intervention.

Rhythm disorders form another area of his work, including atrial fibrillation and other arrhythmias. In the field of heart valve disease, Dr. Akgöz evaluates patients with aortic valve stenosis, mitral valve regurgitation and rheumatic heart disease.

Heart failure · Percutaneous coronary intervention · Myocarditis
Rheumatic heart disease · Mitral valve regurgitation
