CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Algan's clinical work centers on the assessment and treatment of pain. His training and practice cover interventional pain treatment, in which targeted procedures are considered as part of a pain management plan, as well as regional anaesthesia and pain therapy.

His background in anesthesiology, neuroanesthesia and intensive care informs his approach to pain patients. Whether a particular treatment is appropriate depends on the individual diagnosis, prior treatments and overall health, and is discussed with each patient after a clinical assessment.
