CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Aldinç's emergency practice centers on the assessment and management of acute conditions. This includes trauma care and advanced life support, as well as environmental and toxicological emergencies such as insect bites and stings, bee stings and tick bites.

In addition to emergency medicine, Dr. Aldinç has an interest in a number of procedural applications. These include botulinum toxin applications, platelet-rich plasma (PRP) applications, mesotherapy and microneedle radiofrequency, which he applies for facial concerns, hair, stretch marks and cellulite.
