CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Özgökçe's work centers on the prompt evaluation and initial management of acute conditions and injuries. A significant part of his practice involves trauma, where early assessment of injuries and stabilization of the patient guide further care.

His areas of expertise further include drowning, acute hypoxia, and airway obstruction. These are time-sensitive situations in which the emergency physician's role is to assess breathing and oxygenation, secure and maintain the airway where necessary, and coordinate the next steps of care with other departments as the patient's condition requires.
