CLINICAL FOCUS

A large part of Dr. Şen's practice concerns conditions that affect the lens and the retina. He sees patients with cataract and discusses lens options, including smart lens procedures, in which an intraocular lens is selected with the patient's visual needs in mind. He also assesses patients with myopia, reviewing the degree of refractive error and the options that may be appropriate for the individual.

Dr. Şen's practice also covers inflammatory and allergic eye disease. He treats uveitis, an inflammation inside the eye that may require careful diagnosis and follow-up, and eye allergies, which are commonly managed with medication and attention to triggers.
