CLINICAL FOCUS

Within pediatric hematology, Dr. Şaşmaz evaluates and treats children with iron deficiency and anemia and with thalassemia, an inherited disorder of hemoglobin production. Her practice also covers malignant and pre-malignant blood diseases in children, including leukemia, lymphoma and myelodysplastic syndromes.

In pediatric oncology, her areas of expertise include pediatric brain tumors, Wilms tumor, adenocarcinoma and rare tumors of childhood. Treatment planning for these conditions depends on the individual case, and the appropriate approach is discussed with the family after the diagnostic work-up has been reviewed.
