CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Elbi assesses and treats adults presenting with major depression, panic disorder, obsessive-compulsive disorder and other anxiety disorders. These conditions can differ considerably from one person to another, and the aim of an assessment is to understand how symptoms developed, how they affect daily life and which approaches may be suitable for the individual.

A further part of her practice is psychological support in cancer. Building on her background in consultation-liaison psychiatry, Dr. Elbi works with people who are dealing with the emotional and psychological effects of a cancer diagnosis or its treatment.
