CLINICAL FOCUS

A large part of Dr. Gümüşel's practice concerns blood pressure and the coronary circulation. She evaluates and follows patients with hypertension and hypotension, and she assesses patients with coronary artery disease, including those presenting with angina or after a heart attack.

Dr. Gümüşel also sees patients with heart valve disease, in particular aortic stenosis and mitral valve insufficiency, which are often first suspected when a heart murmur is heard. Her expertise further extends to arrhythmias, to congenital conditions such as atrial septal defect, and to myocarditis.
