CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Kuşoğlu's clinical work covers the diagnosis and management of infectious diseases in adults. A significant part of her practice involves lower respiratory tract infections, including bronchitis and pneumonia.

Alongside the treatment of established infections, Dr. Kuşoğlu provides preventive services. These include adult vaccination, in which vaccination needs are reviewed in light of a patient's age, medical history and circumstances, and travel health, where patients preparing for travel can discuss relevant risks and preventive measures.
