CLINICAL FOCUS

A substantial part of Dr. Yolaçan's work concerns chronic and acute airway and lung conditions. She evaluates and manages patients with asthma and chronic obstructive pulmonary disease (COPD), and she is involved in respiratory treatment and rehabilitation for patients whose breathing is affected by long-standing lung disease.

Dr. Yolaçan also sees patients with pulmonary embolism, a condition in which a blood clot obstructs the arteries of the lung and which requires timely evaluation. Her expertise extends to lung cancer and other thoracic cancers, where pulmonary assessment contributes to diagnosis and to planning further care.
