CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Değerli's areas of expertise center on pediatric infectious diseases and upper respiratory tract illnesses in children. These include croup, scarlet fever, measles and chickenpox. Her approach involves clinical evaluation of the child, consideration of the history and course of symptoms, and follow-up as the illness evolves.

A second area of her practice concerns nutrition and blood counts in childhood. Dr. Değerli evaluates and follows children with iron deficiency and anemia, and monitors pediatric nutritional disorders over time.
