CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Özlü's clinical focus is diagnostic imaging. In tomography, she is involved in the acquisition and interpretation of cross-sectional images that help referring physicians assess anatomy and identify or characterize abnormalities.

Her second area of expertise is ultrasonographic imaging. Ultrasound uses sound waves rather than ionizing radiation and is commonly used to examine soft tissues and organs and to follow known findings over time. As with tomography, the value of an ultrasound examination depends on the clinical question being asked, and Dr.
