CLINICAL FOCUS

A significant part of Dr. Gökyar's work concerns childhood iron deficiency and anemia, which she evaluates in the context of the child's diet, growth, and general health. She also assesses hematuria in children and urinary incontinence in children, both of which may require a careful history and laboratory work-up before any conclusions...

Her practice further includes upper respiratory tract illnesses in children and the classic childhood exanthems: measles, rubella, and scarlet fever. In these cases, Dr. Gökyar focuses on recognizing the illness, distinguishing it from other causes of fever and rash, monitoring for complications, and advising parents on care at home and...
