CLINICAL FOCUS

İrem Mürtekin's areas of expertise are audiometry, hearing loss and pediatric hearing loss. Audiometry is the structured measurement of a person's hearing, and it forms the basis of her assessments. In adults, this typically means documenting the type and degree of any hearing loss so that the findings can be discussed with the patient and, where appropriate, with the ENT physicians in the unit.

Pediatric hearing loss is a distinct part of her work. Assessing hearing in children requires methods adapted to the child's age and ability to cooperate, and the results are considered together with the child's development and medical history. Her role is to carry out and interpret the hearing assessment;
