CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Türkalp's areas of expertise are clinical biochemistry, clinical laboratory medicine, biochemical testing and laboratory evaluation. Her role centers on the analysis and interpretation of biochemical tests, which are ordered by treating physicians to help assess organ function, metabolic status and other aspects of a patient's condition.

She also has long-standing experience in laboratory management, having held laboratory leadership and responsible physician roles across several training and research hospitals and private laboratories. This experience covers the organization and oversight of clinical laboratory services within a hospital setting.
