CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Erol's clinical focus lies in the areas of anesthesiology and reanimation that concern critically ill patients. Intensive care treatment involves the monitoring and support of patients whose vital functions are unstable or at risk, for example after major surgery or during severe acute illness.

His work also includes palliative care, which aims to relieve symptoms and support comfort in patients with serious or advanced illness, and pain management. Pain management in anesthesiology may involve medication-based treatment and, where appropriate, procedures directed at the source of pain.
