CLINICAL FOCUS

A central part of Dr. Ağazaryan's practice is the assessment and treatment of anorectal conditions, including hemorrhoids and anal fissure. These conditions are common and can cause pain, bleeding or discomfort that affects daily life;

Dr. Ağazaryan's areas of expertise further include liver diseases, fatty liver disease and liver failure, as well as biliary tract diseases and pancreatic diseases. Because these conditions may involve several organ systems and often require a combination of laboratory testing, imaging and, in some cases, multidisciplinary input, treatment recommendations depend on the...
