CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Maşrabacı's clinical work covers conditions seen in newborns, infants and older children. In the digestive system and abdominal wall, these include infantile pyloric stenosis, pediatric appendicitis, pediatric hernias and umbilical hernia in children.

His published research reflects these interests. He has co-authored studies on whether testicular microlithiasis is associated with testicular pathologies in children, on the management of primary spontaneous pneumothorax in childhood, and on the potential therapeutic effects of ethyl pyruvate in an experimental rat appendicitis model,...
