CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Uçar's practice is dedicated to radiation therapy as part of cancer care. Radiation oncology involves assessing whether radiotherapy is appropriate for a given patient, planning the treatment in relation to the tumor and the surrounding healthy tissue, and following the patient during and after the course of treatment.

Within this field, his areas of expertise include head and neck cancers, brain tumors, gastrointestinal oncology and breast cancer radiotherapy. For each of these, the role of radiotherapy, its timing and its combination with other treatments depend on the type and stage of the disease and on the individual patient's situation. Dr.
