CLINICAL FOCUS

A large part of Kenan Kesgin's work concerns pain and movement problems of the musculoskeletal system. The conditions listed on this profile include fibromyalgia, myalgia, frozen shoulder syndrome, piriformis syndrome, facet joint syndrome, and sports and knee injuries. He performs manual therapy as part of physical therapy and rehabilitation programs for pain.

He also treats lymphedema and works with patients who have neuromuscular diseases, myopathy and movement disorders, as well as restless legs syndrome. In these conditions, physical therapy and rehabilitation are usually one component of care alongside the management provided by other specialties, and the goals of a program are set together with the patient according to the findings of the examination.
