CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Yanık's areas of expertise are clinical laboratory medicine, medical microbiology and clinical microbiology. Laboratory medicine of this kind supports diagnosis and treatment planning by other physicians: samples sent from clinical departments are analyzed, and the resulting findings are reported back to the treating team, who...

His further areas of expertise are hospital infection control, disinfection, antisepsis and sterilization. These fields concern the measures used within a hospital to limit the spread of infection, including the cleaning and sterilization of equipment and environments and antiseptic practice around patient care.
