CLINICAL FOCUS

Kezban Ataş assesses and treats a range of conditions involving the muscles, nerves and spine. Her areas of expertise include myopathy, myalgia, neuromuscular disorders and restless legs syndrome, as well as fibromyalgia, a condition in which rehabilitation and pain management are often combined.

A further part of her practice involves lymphedema treatment and lipedema treatment, both of which typically require a structured, longer-term rehabilitation approach. She also cares for children with spasticity, where treatment is planned around the child's functional needs and development. In each case, the goals and content of rehabilitation are adapted to the individual patient after a clinical assessment.
