CLINICAL FOCUS

Kübra Araç Yazıcı's areas of expertise are audiometry, hearing loss and pediatric hearing loss. Audiometry is a set of hearing tests used to measure how well a person hears sounds of different pitches and volumes. The results help describe the type and degree of any hearing loss and form part of the information that ENT physicians use when considering further steps.

In children, hearing assessment requires methods suited to the child's age and ability to cooperate, and careful interpretation of the findings. Kübra Araç Yazıcı evaluates hearing loss in children as part of her audiology practice, working alongside the ENT team. Where hearing loss is identified, the appropriate management is determined by the treating physicians on the basis of the full clinical picture.
