CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Demirarslan's main area of work is inpatient medical care. As an inpatient clinic physician, he is involved in the day-to-day medical follow-up of patients who have been admitted to the hospital. This includes hospital-based assessment of the patient's clinical status, reviewing findings and test results as they become available, and adjusting the plan in consultation with the treating specialists and the wider care team.

A second focus is treatment coordination and continuity of inpatient care. Hospital treatment often involves several departments and professionals; Dr. Demirarslan works to help ensure that assessment, treatment, and follow-up remain consistent throughout the admission and that relevant information is passed on within the team.
