CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Javit's practice covers the assessment of genetic conditions and the provision of medical genetics consultation. A genetic assessment typically involves a detailed review of the patient's personal and family medical history, evaluation of clinical findings and consideration of whether genetic testing may be informative.

Alongside her clinical work, Dr. Javit has contributed to peer-reviewed research in medical genetics. She is a co-author of a study on BRCA variation risk assessment in breast cancers using different artificial intelligence models, published in Genes in 2021;
