CLINICAL FOCUS

A large part of Dr. Kenduşim's practice concerns conditions that affect the front of the eye and the eyelids. He evaluates and treats conjunctivitis, eye allergies and blepharitis, an inflammation of the eyelid margins that can cause irritation, redness and crusting.

Dr. Kenduşim also manages glaucoma, a group of conditions in which raised pressure inside the eye or other factors can damage the optic nerve over time. Assessment typically includes measurement of intraocular pressure and examination of the optic nerve, with follow-up planned according to the individual findings.
