CLINICAL FOCUS

The core of Dr. Baktir's work is general pediatrics across the age range, from the newborn period through adolescence. Preventive pediatric care involves routine health checks, general guidance for parents and the early identification of problems that may need further assessment.

Childhood developmental monitoring is a further part of his practice. This means following a child's physical growth and developmental progress over time, so that any deviation from the expected pattern can be noted and, where appropriate, investigated further.
