CLINICAL FOCUS

The core of Dr. Altun's work is anesthesiology. In general terms, this involves assessing a patient before a procedure, discussing the anesthetic approach that appears suitable for the individual patient, administering and monitoring anesthesia during the procedure, and following the patient through the recovery phase.

His areas of expertise also include reanimation, which refers to the intensive care and resuscitation side of the specialty, and palliative care. Dr. Altun's practice includes attention to the needs of patients receiving palliative care, with a focus on comfort and the management of symptoms in the context of serious illness.
