CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Zenger's clinical focus lies in the main modalities of diagnostic radiology. He performs and interprets ultrasound examinations, magnetic resonance imaging and computed tomography, and reports on the findings in the context of the referring question and the patient's clinical history.

A further area of his work is breast imaging. This includes mammography and the imaging evaluation of breast diseases, where several methods may be used together depending on the individual situation. Findings on mammography may be complemented by ultrasound or magnetic resonance imaging when additional characterization is needed.
