CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Pekel's areas of expertise are anesthesiology, reanimation and perioperative anesthesia care. Anesthesiology involves planning and delivering anesthesia so that surgical and other procedures can be carried out with the patient's condition and comfort in mind.

During surgery, the anesthesiologist is responsible for administering the anesthetic and monitoring the patient's vital functions, including breathing and circulation, and for responding to changes as they arise. Perioperative anesthesia care also extends into the recovery period, when the patient wakes from anesthesia and pain control and general condition are followed.
