CLINICAL FOCUS

Thyroid disorders form a central part of Dr. Küçük's practice, including the evaluation of abnormal thyroid function and the planning of medical treatment where it is indicated. She also manages diabetes in its different forms: type 1 diabetes, type 2 diabetes and prediabetes, with attention to blood glucose control, lifestyle factors and the reduction of long-term complications.

Dr. Küçük evaluates and treats anemia, looking for the underlying cause before deciding on a treatment approach. Her practice further includes diseases of the pancreas, the liver and the biliary tract, including fatty liver disease. Where a condition requires surgical or other specialized input, she works together with the relevant departments.
