CLINICAL FOCUS

A large part of Dt. Özdemir's practice involves the diagnosis and treatment of dental caries. Following an oral examination and, where needed, the interpretation of dental X-rays, decayed tooth structure can be removed and the tooth restored with a composite filling. When decay or damage has reached the pulp of the tooth, root canal treatment may be considered as a way of preserving the tooth.

Her practice also includes the treatment of gum disease and professional dental cleaning and scaling, which are directed at the health of the gums and supporting tissues. In addition, Dt. Özdemir provides teeth whitening for patients who wish to address discoloration of their teeth; suitability for whitening is assessed individually after a clinical examination.
