CLINICAL FOCUS

The first of the two areas listed for Dr. Dalbeler is oral and dental health in the broad sense. This covers the general dental care that patients seek when they have a complaint affecting the teeth, gums or mouth, as well as routine assessment of the condition of the teeth.

The second area is esthetic dentistry, which concerns the appearance of the teeth and smile. Whether an esthetic approach is appropriate, and which form it should take, depends on the individual patient's dental condition, expectations and general oral health, so the options are considered only after an examination and a discussion with the patient.
