CLINICAL FOCUS

A large part of Meysenaz Koser's practice involves the assessment of children's emotional and social functioning. She uses developmental and projective instruments such as the Children's Apperception Test, the Thematic Apperception Test, the Ankara Developmental Inventory, the Bender-Gestalt Test, the Metropolitan School Readiness Test, projective drawing tests and the Beier Sentence Completion Test.

On the therapeutic side, she applies play therapy with children and uses cognitive behavioral therapy and schema therapy. The choice of assessment tools and therapeutic approach is made according to the age of the person being seen and the concerns raised, and findings are discussed with the patient or family in the context of a broader clinical picture.
