CLINICAL FOCUS

A central part of Dr. İnan's practice is urogynecology, the area of gynecology concerned with the pelvic floor and the lower urinary tract. She assesses and manages urinary incontinence and other bladder health concerns, which may present as involuntary leakage of urine, urgency or frequent urination.

Dr. İnan also treats endometriosis, a condition that can cause pelvic pain and other symptoms and often requires a long-term management plan; more detail is given on the endometriosis treatment page. She provides care for chronic pelvic pain, in which several possible causes may need to be considered before a treatment approach is agreed with the patient.
