CLINICAL FOCUS

A large part of Dr. Ergen's practice is preventive and developmental care. This includes healthy child follow-up, monitoring of growth disorders in children, and the assessment and management of pediatric nutrition disorders.

She also diagnoses and treats common acute and chronic conditions of childhood. These include upper respiratory tract infections in children, croup and other childhood infections, as well as constipation in children. Dr. Ergen evaluates and plans treatment for urinary incontinence in children and for iron deficiency and anemia in children.
