CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Atlan's clinical work covers child and adolescent health in a general pediatric setting. He follows newborns after birth, including the assessment of jaundice and, when indicated, treatment with phototherapy.

He assesses and treats childhood infectious diseases, including upper respiratory tract infections, croup and rash illnesses. In infants, he evaluates colic and gas pain. He also sees children with constipation and with urinary incontinence, conditions that often require a careful history, examination and a period of follow-up rather...
