CLINICAL FOCUS

A significant part of Dr. Yilmaz's work involves insect bites and stings, including bee stings and tick bites. Reactions to bites and stings vary widely between individuals, from localized swelling and discomfort to more pronounced systemic responses, and the emergency assessment aims to identify those who need closer observation or specific treatment.

He also manages trauma and environmental emergencies. Environmental emergencies in his practice include drowning, acute hypoxia and airway obstruction, situations in which the early priorities are securing the airway, supporting breathing and restoring adequate oxygenation.
