CLINICAL FOCUS

Dr. Tek's clinical work covers the assessment and medical management of common and complex heart conditions. She evaluates and treats hypertension, a frequent contributor to long-term cardiovascular risk, and cares for patients with atherosclerosis and coronary artery disease, including those presenting with angina or recovering after a...

A further area of her work is heart failure, where treatment is planned around the underlying cause and the patient's symptoms, and heart valve disease, which requires careful assessment of valve function over time. Dr. Tek also manages atrial fibrillation and other arrhythmias.
