CLINICAL FOCUS

The main procedure in Dr. Bolatkhan's area of expertise is exercise stress testing. An exercise stress test is a supervised examination in which the patient exercises, typically on a treadmill or stationary bicycle, while heart rhythm, heart rate and blood pressure are recorded. The purpose is to observe how the cardiovascular system responds to physical exertion in a controlled setting.

Within the inpatient clinic, Dr. Bolatkhan's involvement in exercise stress testing sits alongside her general responsibilities for admitted patients. This may include reviewing the indication for the test, ensuring that the patient is prepared and monitored appropriately during the examination, and communicating findings to the relevant specialist team so that they can be considered in further decision-making.

INTERNATIONAL PATIENTS

Dr. Bolatkhan speaks Turkish and English, and interpreters can be arranged for patients who speak other languages. Before a visit, the international patient team coordinates the collection of prior reports and imaging, such as MRI, CT, X-ray or ultrasound reports, laboratory and pathology results, operative notes and discharge summaries, and arranges appointments and organizes the...
