DEPARTMENT

Physical Medicine & Rehabilitation

CLINICAL FOCUS

The main areas of his practice are physical medicine and rehabilitation, physiotherapy and the treatment of pelvic pain. Pelvic pain can have several contributing factors and often affects everyday activities, so it calls for careful assessment, clear patient education and an individually tailored therapy program.

More broadly, physiotherapy within a physical medicine and rehabilitation unit supports patients with a range of musculoskeletal and neurological complaints. General information about related rehabilitation topics, such as osteoarthritis treatment and movement disorders treatment, is available on this site; whether a particular program is suitable for an individual patient is decided after clinical evaluation.
