CLINICAL FOCUS

The core of Dr. Kılıç's work is hepatobiliary and pancreatic surgery. He evaluates and treats patients with liver diseases, including fatty liver disease, cirrhosis and liver failure. Patients with advanced liver disease may be assessed for liver transplantation, where the indication, the timing and the individual risks are reviewed together with the patient and, where relevant, the referring physician.

Dr. Kılıç also manages cancers of the hepatobiliary system, including liver cancer and gallbladder and bile duct cancers. Benign biliary tract diseases form another part of his practice, in particular cholecystitis and other conditions of the gallbladder and bile ducts. In addition, he treats pancreatic diseases that require surgical assessment.
