CLINICAL FOCUS

In internal medicine, Dr. Sungur evaluates and follows patients with disorders of the blood, the endocrine system and the digestive tract. This includes anemia, diabetes insipidus and Behçet’s disease, as well as chronic inflammatory conditions of the bowel such as Crohn’s disease, ulcerative colitis and inflammatory bowel disease.

His background in intensive care treatment and advanced life support informs his approach to patients with acute or complex medical needs, and his work in palliative care addresses symptom management and support for patients with serious or advanced illness.
