CLINICAL FOCUS

Coronary artery disease is a central part of Dr. Mercan's practice. He evaluates patients with suspected or established coronary artery disease and performs angiography as part of the diagnostic assessment. His areas of expertise also include chronic total occlusion (CTO), a form of coronary artery disease in which a vessel has been completely blocked for an extended period.

Dr. Mercan also cares for patients with heart failure, myocarditis and rheumatic heart disease, a condition in which the heart valves are damaged following rheumatic fever. Alongside diagnosis and medical management, cardiopulmonary rehabilitation forms a distinct part of his work.
